

Global Cluster Matchmaking

– connecting ecosystems to reignite

One thing we have learned from the Covid-19 pandemic, is how interconnected the world is. But globalization as we know it has changed - maybe forever.

Global value chains and markets have been disrupted. Yet, we are facing the same challenges. From Covid-19 to climate change.

Be part of the solution and help (re-)connect eco-systems at the first Global Cluster Matchmaking event.

It is our ambition to make the largest cluster matchmaking event in history with 300+ cluster organisations and business development organisations joining from all six continents.

Go global from home and...

- * Build or re-connect with your global network of likeminded organisations
- * Matchmake and scout for new collaboration partners in all corners of the world
- * Find out how to fund your global projects
- * Get inspirational talk from leading experts on collaboration possibilities, funding and learnings.

Price

It is all digital, so no travel costs. Just a fee of € 50 per participant.

Target audience

Cluster organisations, business development organisations and other ecosystem enablers.
